

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

The last thing I need is to pay more for my telephone service and urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as high-volume residential and business customers. I believe this to be unfair!

I use my wireless phone for emergency calls, and shouldn't have to give up my security so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. Again, I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Robert Marshall
